

The Daily Indiana State Sentinel. The first session of the Indiana Legislature will convene on Thursday, the 6th of January next. This session will be an important one.

As heretofore, the Daily State Sentinel will contain full and accurate reports of the proceedings of the Legislature, besides political information, telegraphic news, state of the market, &c. &c.

The subscription prices are as follows: During the session, $1 00 Six months, 2 50 One year, 5 00 The money must, in all cases, accompany the subscription.

Address, post-paid, AUSTIN H. BROWN. [Editors copying the above prospectus for two weeks, will receive the Daily in exchange during the session.]

Our City Charter. We see from an article in the local columns of a late number of the State Journal, that the attempt is being revived, to induce our City Council to reverse their late decision, and to adopt the general law, in lieu of our City Charter. Various pretexts are stated for this course; the principle one is, the question that caused the present charter to be adopted by our citizens, unanimously, over the old charter, which will be found in the 32d section of the charter. This section was substituted by the vote of our citizens, for the unlimited power of taxation up to 50 cents on the $100, given by the old charter to the council. This section reads:

"Sec. 32. No tax upon the real and personal property in such city shall be levied by the City Council, exceeding fifteen cents (in addition to that levied for common school purposes) on each one hundred dollars of the annual assessment, without a vote of a majority of citizens, liable to taxation, being first had, assenting to a greater amount. And whoever a greater tax shall be levied, it shall be the duty of the Council to make the specific sum known by an ordinance, directing how the vote thereon shall be given by the citizens liable to pay the same. Provided, that such vote shall be taken at the annual election of Councilmen in the month of April."

This most important section is now attempted to be repealed by the adoption of the general law, giving the Council unlimited powers of taxation, without consulting the people, who are to pay the taxes, and the argument is, that the Council want more money than the 15 cents on the $100. The votes of the people have given them the answer to all this, which is that the Council will always find the means to expend all the money they may have, and more, no matter how high the taxes are; besides the great rise in the value of the real estate of the city will largely increase the amount to be raised by the 15 cents on the $100, and probably meet all necessary expenditures; and the provisions of the section above quoted are ample to enable the Council to increase the tax for any particular object if our citizens say it is right; and the Council ought not to have the power to tax us against our will, for objects that the citizens will not approve, above the amount specified. The voters surely can be trusted on this subject; if they cannot, (which is the argument,) they ought not to be trusted to elect Councilmen at all. The other objections to our charter are mere pretexts, as the charter confers powers ample for administration, police, and protection, and is understood by our citizens; besides our common school system for the city is based upon it, and ought not to be touched or jeopardized, without the most urgent necessity, which can scarcely ever arise. The safer course for our Council is to adhere to their late decision, confirming the vote of the people in favor of the present charter, and let well-enough alone.

Agricultural Premiums. It will be seen by an advertisement in the special notice column, that the State Board of Agriculture offer valuable Premiums to any citizen of Indiana for each essay on "any subject connected with the Agricultural, Mechanical, or Manufacturing interests of the State." The Premiums offered are worth double the amount of the estimated price to any one interested in Agriculture or its kindred sciences.

The State Board will hold its meetings next month, when the Legislature will be in session. The evenings will be devoted to the reading of these essays and to the discussion of Agricultural subjects. The interest in Agriculture is rapidly increasing in all parts of the State, and we hope that there may be many competitors for the premiums offered.

Hon. William R. King. The rumor of the death of this distinguished statesman, now Vice President elect, is not credited. At the last accounts he was recovering his health, and had gone to Tusculum to visit his brother. The rumor originated at Richmond, Virginia, no doubt with some mischievous person, for the purpose of producing confusion in the electoral college.

Accident and Loss of Life. A collision occurred on Wednesday night between two freight trains on the Bellefontaine Railroad, three miles north east of this city. One of the hands, Thos. Barrett, was instantly killed. Three others are dangerously wounded. Their names are—O'Brien, Michael, Cady, and Thomas Dana. It is thought that two of the wounded will not recover. We have no reliable information as to the cause of the accident.

Election of U. S. Senator in New Hampshire. In the House of Representatives at Concord, on last Thursday morning, Hon. Charles G. Atherton (Democrat) was chosen United States Senator, having received 135 out of 265 votes. Ira Peasley (Whig) had 81 votes; John Preston, (Free Soil) 37; John P. Hale, 4; John S. Hill, 4; Scattering, 5. The Senate was to elect in the afternoon, and undoubtedly concurred in the choice of Mr. Atherton.

George B. Johnson, a native Hoosier, and formerly of this city, is now visiting Indiana as the Agent of Montgomery, Davidge, & Co., Wholesale Dealers in English, French, German, and American Variety Goods, Louisville, Ky. This House is well deserving of the patronage of the mercantile community.

It is said that the editor of the New York Tribune will shortly publish a pamphlet entitled "Why I am not a Whig; by Horace Greeley." It will, of course, like the Whig candidate for the Presidency, have a great run.

Mr. Thatcher, editor of the Shelbyville Volunteer, requests us to say that his paper will be issued again on the third Thursday of this month, the 23d. We are glad that he has made arrangements to resume so early the publication of his sterling Democratic Sheet.

The Administration and the Crescent City.

On the 27th ult., the Republic, by authority of the President, published the following private letter:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12, 1892. Hon. HON. MARVELL, New York City. For some time yesterday came to hand this morning, in which you state a conversation you had had with Mr. Grover Cleveland, from which you learned that the "Crescent City" will go to Cuba and enter the port of Havana, in defiance of the Spanish authorities, and if fired upon, she will be surrendered, and then he and others will immediately commence hostilities against the island. You say also that "he desires to know whether he is right in persisting in the pursuit of his lawful business, and if the Government shall tell him he must not go, he will not go. If, however, the Government says nothing against his going, he will infer he has a right to go."

You say also that "he professes to be friendly to me and my Administration." Of the sincerity of this latter profession one can best judge by reading his letter of the 9th, published in the New York Herald of the 10th instant. But, in regard to the chief matters of your letter, permit me to say that, in the first place, I do not admit the right of Mr. Law, or any other citizen, to threaten a war on his own account for the purpose of seeking redress for real or imaginary injuries, and then to call upon the Government to say whether it approves or disapproves of such conduct and assume its approbation, unless the act is forbidden. The Constitution of the United States has vested in Congress alone the power of declaring war, and neither the Executive branch of the Government nor Mr. Law has any right to usurp that power by commencing a war without authority, and if he shall attempt it, it will be no duty, as it is my determination to exert all the force confided to the Executive Government by the Constitution and laws to prevent it. I am resolved at every hazard to maintain our rights in this controversy against Spain, and I am equally resolved that no act of our own citizens shall be permitted to place this Government in the wrong.

Mr. Law has an undoubted right to pursue his lawful business, but when a question is raised between this Government and a foreign nation as to whether the business which he pursues is lawful or unlawful, and if he shall attempt it, it will be no duty, as it is my determination to exert all the force confided to the Executive Government by the Constitution and laws to prevent it. I am resolved at every hazard to maintain our rights in this controversy against Spain, and I am equally resolved that no act of our own citizens shall be permitted to place this Government in the wrong.

The Model Baby. BY FANNY FERN. It never wants to nurse when mamma has on her best dress, that is made to fasten behind.

It wears but two clean frocks a week. It has no objection, when lying on its back in the cradle, wide awake, to have a dozen flies walking over its little face in different directions, and doesn't get mad because it can't hit them in the right spot with its little fat, useless hands.

It never goes into fits when the large black cat jumps into the foot of the cradle, and stands whisking her tail round, and staring at it with her great green eyes. It is unnecessary for visitors who wish to tend it, to dress in oil cloth or India rubber, or to hold its hands to prevent their eyes from being clawed out.

It knows the difference between Valenciennes lace and imitation, and never lays profane fingers on the former. If it is taken to the common by Peggy, the nurse, and she sneezes John (as agreed upon) and puts the baby on the grass, whilst they "cast sheep's eyes" and make love, it never interrupts the thread of its discourse, though half an hour since it rolled over on its face; has been snuffed at by the dogs, and had a dozen blades of grass or more tickling its nose all through that interesting period. Its patience is still unshaken on their march homeward when Peggy, in a "brown study," lays it over her right shoulder, (it should have been over the left), quite unconscious that the sun is scorching its eyes out.

When it returns home, and visions of a "land overflowing with milk" begin to float through its brain, and mamma is in the parlor with company in full dress, and can't think of being bored to nurse, and Peggy still thinking of John, and loving her ease as well as her letters, slyly administers a dose of paregoric—it resigns itself to its fate without any signs of discontent whatever.

It is also enough of a Spartan to make no objection to being made a living pin cushion, and never thinks of remonstrating, though the pin has been working its way into its shoulder, ever since it was dressed in the morning, and remains undisturbed until it comes off with the dress at night.

Lastly—its crowning excellence is that it never wakes when papa comes to bed, but stays in the crib until morning.

The second instalment of the claims due from Portugal, is now ready to be paid at the State Department, in Washington.

Nelson's funeral cost $75,000, Wm. Pitt's $80,000, and Wellington's will probably exceed the cost of both, to the British government.

Thinking is to the mind what digestion is to the body. It is said the egg trade of Lewes, Delaware, has for several years, amounted to $10,000 per annum.

"I CAN DIGEST ANYTHING."—Such is the declaration of a gentleman who had been unable to eat half a water cracker without acute diarrhea, for several months, until he had improved his digestion by the method recently discovered by Dr. Houghton of Philadelphia, which consists in using the vegetable agent itself, called PEP-SIN, extracted from the Stomach of the Ox. "I can digest anything," said the man. He was "fairly weak and thin when he commenced trying this new remedy; could not bear the slightest particle of food, however simple, without the greatest agony. Now he takes coffee, cats saucages, and fat baked beef and cabbage, and smokes cigars, yet he feels no distress whatever; he gains strength and flesh daily, and in fact has become a new man. Numerous instances of this kind can be referred to by all agents who sell this remarkable remedy—DR. HOUGHTON'S PEP-SIN, The True Digestive Fluid, or Gastric Juice, prepared from Rennet, or the fourth stomach of the Ox.

CRACKSON! FINE! FASHIONS!—The kind of fits we most admire, are such as are to be found at the Clothing Establishment of William R. Crackson. He constantly receives goods of the latest and most approved styles of French, English, and American manufacture, and cuts and makes garments on a short notice. He has journeymen to do his work, and does not entrust the making up of garments to inexperienced apprentices and women. Call and see his excellent French cloths and vestings. They will compare favorably with those to be found in any market. nov25

THE OLD TIME AND THE NEW.—In the olden time it was the custom to scrub the floors of a dwelling house daily, and sprinkle them afterwards with fine sand. Now, however, this ancient custom is sneered at and ostracized, and in some respects very justly too. Instead of using sand to cover their floor with, people of the present day, rich or poor, use elegant and cheap Carpets and Oil Cloths, such as are sold by H. J. HORN, Sign of the Big S. oct28
